Detailed Description

The Malayalam Club of CPA College of Global Studies organized a special lecture in connection with International Mother Language Day on 23 February 2026 at 10.00 AM in the Update Hall. The programme was conducted with the objective of promoting awareness about the importance of mother tongue, linguistic diversity, and cultural heritage among students.

The programme was presided over by Mr. Subhash Kumar P, Malayalam Club Coordinator. In his presidential address, he emphasized the significance of celebrating International Mother Language Day and highlighted the role of academic institutions in preserving and promoting the Malayalam language among the younger generation.

The programme commenced with a welcome address by Ms. Fathima Isha from the Department of Psychology. She welcomed the dignitaries, chief guest, faculty members, and students, and briefly spoke about the importance of mother language in shaping identity and cultural values.

The formal inauguration was carried out by the Principal, Mr. John Joseph. In his inaugural address, he underscored the importance of linguistic diversity and encouraged students to take pride in their mother tongue. He appreciated the Malayalam Club for organizing a meaningful academic event.

As mentioned in the official poster circulated by the Malayalam Club, the keynote address was delivered by Mr. Jishnu R, critic and researcher. In his lecture on the theme "Nammeyokkeyum Bandhicha Bhashakal", he elaborated on the richness of Malayalam literature, the evolution of language, and the challenges faced by regional languages in the modern globalized context. He motivated students to actively contribute to the preservation and promotion of Malayalam in academic and social platforms.

The programme was further enriched by felicitation addresses delivered by the Manager, Mr. Ubaid; Mr. C.V. Basheer, Personal Manager to the Chairman; and Ms. Bindu, Head of the Department of Commerce. The dignitaries appreciated the initiative and emphasized the importance of language in cultural preservation and educational development.

The programme concluded with a vote of thanks proposed by Ms. Dilsha from the Department of English. She expressed sincere gratitude to the Principal, Manager, Chairperson, chief guest, faculty members, and students for their valuable presence and support.

The programme recorded active and wholehearted participation from students and faculty members. It successfully achieved its intended objectives by enhancing awareness regarding the importance of mother language and by strengthening appreciation and respect for Malayalam within the academic community.

FEEDBACK ANALYSIS

The feedback collected from students and faculty members indicated that the programme was highly relevant and informative. Participants appreciated the initiative taken by the Malayalam Club in organizing the event in connection with International Mother Language Day. Many students expressed that the programme enhanced their understanding of the cultural and emotional significance of their mother tongue and strengthened their sense of identity and belonging.

The keynote address delivered by Mr. Jishnu R received positive responses for its depth, clarity, and engaging presentation style. Students noted that the discussion on the challenges faced by regional languages in the context of globalization and digitalization was particularly insightful. The felicitation speeches and the overall organization of the event were also well appreciated. Overall, the feedback reflects that the programme successfully achieved its objectives and created a positive academic impact, with suggestions to conduct more such language-oriented programmes in the future to further promote linguistic awareness on campus.
